

Born on August 27th, 1957, in Germany, Bernhard Langer is a golfing maestro whose precision, consistency, and dedication to the sport have earned him a place among the legends of golf.

In 1985, he made history by becoming the first German to win the Masters.

This victory catapulted him into the global golfing spotlight and marked the beginning of a career that would go on for decades.

Known for his meticulous approach to the game, Langer's swing and strategic play became the envy of many golf enthusiasts.

His mental fortitude, especially in high-pressure situations, made him a formidable competitor on the course.

Beyond his Masters triumph, Langer's career had many victories, including multiple Ryder Cup appearances and wins on both the European and the PGA Tour

Off the course, Langer is admired for his sportsmanship, humility, and commitment to charitable causes.

His golf shoes are proudly displayed on the wall at Carmarthen Athletic Rugby Club.
